HARD TO CLASSIFY

Under the glamorous spell of collegiate theories from the professorial bloc that surrounded him, it looked at first as though his swing to the left would be permanently in that direction. Business was hoping and praying that he would go no farther along that path, but was fearful with the pivot pointed in that direction, he would pivot to the end of the farrow.

THEN ON RIGHT

Then out of a clear sky, and for no apparent reason, there was a right-about-face on the automobile code and Big Business breathed a sigh of relief and concluded that all was well with the world after all.

LEFT ABOUT

Now without warning the lash has been applied to public utilities, with the result that the Chief Executive is pictured as emulating the example of his noted predecessor in his famous Wilsonian waltz of taking one step forward and two backwards.

WHAT'S THE PURPOSE?

Why, the President should "see fit to pick on the utilities" is not apparent, unless he is jealous of putting them out of business and ruining the thousands upon thousands of investors in such stocks, with the idea in mind of building up a tidy empire of his own, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority—a flop. In fact it is only a different way of saying that the government proposes to take over and regiment all business, this being the first step in furtherance of such an objective.

WARNING EXAMPLE

The admitted dismal failure that has been made in curing our economic ills should act as a deterrent to any such plan. The depression is still with us with all its attendant misery and unemployment. According to the government (Continued on Page 8)

Time To Act

Every citizen in Contra Costa should join with the Board of Supervisors and the Contra Costa Farm Bureau in opposing the "road bill" now before the State legislature, whereby Governor Merriam and his cohorts are attempting to centralize government at Sacramento, and take away home rule government from the people of the State.

The bill not only affects counties, but cities as well, and every person in the county who is the owner of property.

Do not sit idly by and then when your rights are taken away from you, make complaint, but either write or wire your representative in the legislature from this county, that you are opposed to the measure. DO IT NOW.

The governor in a recent public statement said it was his intention to lop off "the tail of the dog one joint at a time." The tail of the dog represents the people of the State.

In addition the Administration whip at Sacramento is being cracked on the legislators and they are being quietly informed, that unless they perform 100 percent, they will be punished.

From the many comments that have been heard, it is safe to say if the question was submitted to a vote of the people, that 90 percent of the residents of Contra Costa would register a negative vote.

SERA Orchestra To Entertain At County Hospital

Inmates of the Contra Costa County hospital are looking forward to a treat on Saturday afternoon, March 16, when the SERA musicians and vaudevillians will journey to Martinez to entertain the sick and bed-ridden there.

This group of unemployed musicians and entertainers, working through the SERA, and under the direction of Carl Richards, as musical director has become an important adjunct of SERA, and each performance finds them playing to a bigger and more responsive audience.

With a seventeen-piece orchestra, and ten tried and true act-vaudevillians, they are anxious to please the audiences who assist them in filling their budgetary requirements. At the hospital they plan to include both hill-billy and cowboy songs with monologues, dialects, ventriloquism, comedy songs and to keep their hosts in a state of real festivity.

Naturalist Will Appear At School

Bert Harwell, chief naturalist, Yosemite National Park and radio whistler of note, will appear in person Monday night, at the Lincoln school auditorium. Harwell has appeared before service clubs and school assemblies in practically every county, for the purpose of inspiring a love for the music and the birds.

The boys and girls especially, of California, have given to Harwell a warm welcome because of his intimate knowledge of and love for the birds. In his concert Monday night, Harwell will bring to his audience the music of the out-of-doors, and in his interpretation of the song of the birds, the peculiar notes of many of the birds we know so well, will be heard.

Harwell will be assisted by some of the finest local talent. The complete program will appear later.

On the day of the concert, Harwell will whistle over the radio at 10:15 A. M.

WITNESSES SUMMONED BY BOARD

SACRAMENTO, March 13.—UP.—Investigation of legalized horse racing in California, the result of which will be used as the basis of regulatory legislation, was assured tonight after Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon, Los Angeles, announced a meeting Friday of a special committee organized by the legislature last year.

The committee session was called in answer to charges by Frank J. Hudson, former general inspector for the racing commission, that horse racing and pari-mutuel betting were mismanaged and that favoritism was shown.

CALL WITNESS

In announcing the meeting Lyon said Hudson had been subpoenaed to appear before the committee, and it was expected that members of the racing commission also would attend the hearing.

"As far as I have been able to determine, horse racing in California has been a complete 'blind fly' condition it took off at 1:45 for another seaward flight, returning at 6:15 P. M."

W. C. Rouds, chief clerk of the U. S. Lighthouse Service in Honolulu, ordered the radio beacon at Makapu Point turned on at 3 P. M. today, during the plane's second flight.

Reporters overheard a request to Honolulu to "sound the letter S" starting at 2 P. M. from Oakland earlier in the day. Rouds said he did not receive this request, but ordered the beacon on the strength of press reports.

Wheeler field, army airport in Honolulu, was prepared to receive the plane, the United Press also learned. The Oakland airport has been newly graded, as usual, when a heavily loaded plane takes off. The Douglas low-wing plane carries 1,500 gallons of gasoline, more than sufficient to take it to Honolulu, approximately 2,000 miles distant.

It also was learned in February army officers had asked all Honolulu statistics their frequencies and time of operation and when they changed wave lengths. This information presumably was solicited in connection with a new radio compass will be used.

Dunamis Knights
Hold Meeting At Local City Hall

Eight Eagle Scouts signed application for membership in the local chapter of the Knights of Dunamis at a meeting last night in the city hall. The eight are: Edgar Gerhardt, Charles Ostrander, Peter Pedrotti, Diane Hall, Frank Hoeffler, Donald Hines, Joseph Ruzich, and Norman Anderson.

Paul Kressman, affiliated with no troop, will make application in the near future for membership. Donald Garrard, Harold Tomlinson, Peter Abernathy and Robert Abernathy are planning to transfer into Richmond chapter from Berkeley or Contra Costa chapter to which they now belong.

Edgar Gerhardt, temporary chairman, conducted the meeting and named Peter Pedrotti as secretary pro tem, to take charge of registering candidates and getting applications in to grand chapter headquarters in San Francisco.

Donald P. Seaman, Scout executive and F. C. Shallenberger, senior advisor, attended the meeting.

Peter Abernathy showed a group of pictures he took on his trip to Costa Rica with the Scout Naturalists' Expedition in 1932.

Self-Flying Plane Ready For Trip To Honolulu, H.I.

OAKLAND, March 13.—UP.—A Douglas mystery ship, now undergoing tests, which may stamp it the first self-flying plane in the world, will take off from Oakland airport at midnight Thursday for Honolulu, the United Press learned from an unimpeachable source tonight.

The only contingency, aside from weather, was that today's test of the plane robot pilot and special direction compass be successful, it was said.

That these tests were successful on two separate flights today was evidenced by satisfaction expressed by those in charge of the twin-motored craft.

The plane made one three-hour flight this morning, starting at 4:45 A. M. It soared 170 miles over the Pacific thru fog banks, contacting ships to establish its course. Then, with its windows blackened, it gave a complete "blind flying" condition it took off at 1:45 for another seaward flight, returning at 6:15 P. M.

W. C. Rouds, chief clerk of the U. S. Lighthouse Service in Honolulu, ordered the radio beacon at Makapu Point turned on at 3 P. M. today, during the plane's second flight.

Reporters overheard a request to Honolulu to "sound the letter S" starting at 2 P. M. from Oakland earlier in the day. Rouds said he did not receive this request, but ordered the beacon on the strength of press reports.

JURORS AIR PITTSBURG VICE CASE

MARTINEZ, March 13.—The Alameda-Hart vice case that has been a bone of contention in the city of Pittsburg for months, and over which there has been much criticism by the officials of Pittsburg, was on the scene of action before the grand jury tonight.

District Attorney Francis Healey determined that he would have the inquisitorial body go to the heart of the case, and ascertain whether action by the grand jury was justified.

17 WITNESSES CALLED

Seventeen witnesses were subpoenaed, and up to midnight there had been five who had appeared and given testimony. Finally the hour became so late that the case was continued over until next week.

Dora Hart, alleged keeper of a house of ill fame, appeared, and on the advice of her attorney refused to testify on the ground that she might incriminate herself.

WOMEN INVOLVED

The witnesses subpoenaed were Mayor Hugh Donovan, Councilmen Sol W. Cardwell, Arnold Lindehl, Dr. W. C. Monteverde, Max Grabstein, and Vincent Rubin, Frank Rubino, Mike Crespo, Police Capt. Jan J. McNeill, Patrol Officer Chris Maza, Chief of Police Charles S. Sorensen, Assistant Chief Charles Hamilton, City Attorney Walter Lynch, Joe Bell, a barber, J. Rotenberg, storekeeper, Constable Joseph Rodda and Tonio Lazio, the reputed Al Capone of Pittsburg.

The Pittsburg case, supposedly involves Dora Hart and Vincent Aiello, who were charged with compounding a crime, police alleging that Miss Hart took $50 "protection" money from Aiello.

PICKETS BESIEGE WORKERS IN HUGE SUGAR REFINERY

MARTINEZ, March 13.—At a meeting held this evening at which were present Sheriff John A. Miller, District Attorney Francis F. Healey and the entire board of supervisors it was agreed that the sheriff and the district attorney would go to Crockett immediately and would see that law and order would be maintained, and that men who desired to go to work, would go to work, and that there would be no further violence.

It was further agreed that if the sheriff and the district attorney found that they could not prevent violence and could not restore peace in the community, the sheriff agreed in the morning that he would call on the governor to dispatch troops into the county to maintain law and order.

The Board of Supervisors has expressed its willingness to back the sheriff and the district attorney to the utmost in the enforcement of law and the prevention of violence.

Reports which were received at the meeting that six men have been injured, gangs of men have been piling rocks in the street, cars have been tipped over and workers have been intimidated.

The men who are causing the trouble at Crockett are not citizens of the county nor workers at the plant. The workers at the plant are satisfied with working conditions at the plant.

The election on March 8th presumably settled the question when 158 warehousemen voted against 97 on the issue of joining the Cereal Workers Weighers and Warehousemen, a subsidiary of the I. O. O. F.

BAER MANAGER STUDIES PLAN FOR BIG BOUT

SACRAMENTO, March 13.—UP—Max Baer, heavyweight champion, cannot consider an offer for a fight with Joe Lewis, negro, until the Madison Square Garden Corporation decides whether a suitable opponent will be selected for a June title fight, Angil Hoffman, manager of the champion, said today.

Hoffman received a telegram from Lou Raymond, of the Sportsman's Enterprise Association, Pittsburgh, Pa., offering Baer $20,000 for a fight with Lewis, July 4 and asking an immediate answer.

"I shall thank him," Hoffman said, "but tell him we can't do anything until we hear from the Garden."

Hoffman wrote the Garden officials two days ago asking them to name an opponent within 30 days and make arrangements for a title fight in June.

"If the Garden falls down," he said, "then we can think about this offer to fight Lewis."

"Naturally, we would consider the offer seriously if we were clear of the Garden contract and if we knew the Pittsburgh proposition was bona fide."

"If the Garden does not respect our wishes for an immediate decision, and fails to arrange a June bout, then we will be ready to talk business with Raymond."

"However, if we fight for the Garden in June, we cannot meet Lewis July 4. That would be too soon after the June battle, I hope to complete arrangements with the Garden for a title defense early in the summer, so Max can fight again in August."

Hoffman has under consideration an offer of $250,000 to match Baer with Max Schmeling in Germany in August, and said acceptance of the offer would depend largely upon the Garden's arrangement for a June fight and outcome of the Pittsburgh proposition.

Lou Brouillard Will Meet Babe Marino In S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—UP—"Babe" Marino, 192-lb. middleweight, said tonight he was confident he would defeat Lou Brouillard, Worcester, Mass., in their ten-round fight at Dreamland auditorium Friday night.

Marino recently defeated Andy Callahan, who had previously taken a decision over Brouillard.

Brouillard's manager, Johnny Buckley, announced Brouillard would not be satisfied with anything less than a knockout victory, and if beaten, might quit boxing.

Foley Asks Court To Rule He Is Veterans' Head

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—UP—Thomas M. Foley today appealed to the State Supreme Court to sustain his contention that he is chairman of the veterans' welfare commission, despite a lower court ruling that John P. Brennan still holds the post.

Foley was named to the position by Governor Frank F. Merriam. Recently the superior court in Sacramento sustained Brennan's claim that as an appointee of the late Governor James Rolph he was entitled to the job until next year. The position carries with it a salary of $500 per month.

Foley argued that sale of a $30,000,000 bond issue to aid veterans to buy homes was being delayed by the squabble for the chairmanship of the commission.

Violence Again Rocks Havana

HAVANA, Cuba, March 13.—UP—Violence broke out in Havana again tonight, after a quiet 24 hours in which the government's stern measures appeared to have triumphed over an accepted general strike.

Heavy rifle and machine gun firing was heard in several sections of the city. Snipers wounded a police lieutenant, four bombs exploded in midtown.

The city presented a weird aspect with the searchlights from Cuban fortresses throwing its gleams across the city against the cloudy sky, intermittent shooting and police cars dashing through the streets with screaming sirens.

Report Of SERA Insurance Fees Denied By Chief

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—UP—Reports State Emergency Relief Administration truck drivers had been ordered to pay a $7 accident insurance fee were denied today by the office of Frank McLaughlin, SERA State chief.

"The only insurance required is from administrative employees, who are on a regular monthly payroll, and they are reimbursed on a mileage basis," it was stated.

Roy D. Pilling, Los Angeles county administrator, was checked on Los Angeles' procedure and he wired:

"SERA truck drivers are not required to furnish through personal financing accident insurance policies."

A policy of "merciless punishment" for the rebels and their leaders was announced by an official spokesman tonight.

The revolution was ended but martial law will be continued in most parts of Greece until the trials are ended. Hundreds will be executed and thousands given long terms in prisons.

The Senate then will be dissolved and general elections held. The Communists and the Venizelos and other opposition parties will be dissolved.

Speaking of Sports

LONDON, March 13.—UP—Deaf people from all parts of the world will hold an international games rally here Aug. 17 to 24.

There are 17 nations affiliated to the Comité International des Sports Silencieux (International Committee of Silent Sports), and 15 of them are definitely competing. These are Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Sweden and Switzerland. The United States and Japan are also expected to send teams.

WANT EVENTS

The track and field events will cover the complete Olympic program with the exceptions of the marathon, steeplechase, hop-step-jump, cross-country race, decathlon, hammer-throw, and walking. Four competitors from each country may take part in each event.

The women will have the 100-meters, high jump, broad jump, shot put, and 400-meters relay.

There also will be swimming seven events for men, and four for women, diving, cycling, lawn tennis, and association football.

The first international deaf meet was in Paris in 1934, when nine nations participated, and the International Committee was founded. At Amsterdam in 1928 10 nations took part; at Nuremberg, in 1931, there were 14.

WORLD RECORDS

The world's records for deaf athletes are not imposing and it is doubtful whether they can ever be first-class. This because the number of deaf people is comparatively small, and they are much handicapped where coaching is concerned. The running records correspond to a fairly good high-school standard. In the field events they are a little better.

Scandinavia was the first to cater for the deaf athlete. It was in Copenhagen in 1905 that a Swedish club met a Danish club in the first athletic match for deaf teams from different countries. In 1906 it became a full international match between Sweden and Denmark. In 1907 Finland came in, and in 1910 Norway made it a four-corned match.

FOOTBALL MATCHES

In 1913 Vienna and Budapest began a long series of association football matches, and in 1922 France and Belgium played the first international football match confined to deaf players.

In the first comprehensive international games in 1924, France swept the board, thanks to a vast superiority in athletics and cycling. At Amsterdam in 1928 Germany, a new competitor, won with 125½ points to France's 105. Both did well in athletics, but Germany's swimmers turned the scale.

At Nuremberg in 1931, a young Danish team set a new standard for deaf runners, but again German swimmers outclassed everybody, and Germany's final score was 206 points to France's 176 and Denmark's 143.

SWEDE PRINCE TO WED FAMED DANE PRINCESS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 13.—UP.—The royal courts of Sweden and Denmark soon will announce officially the engagement of pretty Princess Ingrid, daughter of the Crown Prince Gustav Adolf of Sweden, and Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark.

When the wedding will eliminate practically the only remaining eligible princess for the Prince of Wales, should the heir to the British throne ever decide to marry.

OFFICIAL WORD AWAITED

Newspapers here have promised not to mention the coming marriage linking the royal houses of Sweden and Denmark until the official announcement is made. This is expected before this week-end, unless some details delay it a few days longer, the United Press was informed tonight.

Princess Ingrid is 25 years old, the third child and only daughter of the crown prince. She is both Swedish and English, for her mother was Princess Margaret of Connaught, who died when the Princess was 10.

The romance with Prince Frederick goes back to 1928, although her name in the intervention was frequently has been linked with other princes, including the heir to the British throne. In 1929, society in the courts of Europe buzzed with the rumor that Princess Ingrid would wed Wales.

REMOVAL TOLD

The rumors persisted when in 1930 the princess visited England. She stayed at Bashed Park, country seat of the Duke of Connaught.

Later that year, Ingrid was reported engaged to the Count of Paris and the Prince of Wales has been out of the running ever since. Others with whom she was reported in love included the Count Nils von Rosen, a Swedish army officer, and Prince George of England, married last fall to Princess Marina of Greece.

BRITISH AUTHOR FACES CHARGE OF COMMUNISM

CHICAGO, March 13.—UP.—Erlyn John Strachey, British intellectual who believes capitalism is doing to pot of its own weakness, left Chicago today under $500 bond to show cause on March 21 why he should not be deported as a Communist.

He left immigration authorities, with whom he conferred at a closed hearing, puzzled over the distinction between a "philosophical Communist" and a fellow who says "comes the revolution, I will throw the first bomb." Strachey told them he was a "philosophical Communist."

TO GIVE LECTURE

Strachey went to Cleveland to fill a lecture engagement. He was arrested at Glenview, Chicago suburb, last night by immigration officials who waited until he finished a lecture there to seize him as "advocating the overthrow of the United States government."

"You know, I shall make them prove it," Strachey said. "I do not belong to the Communist party."

The deportation warrant was issued at Washington, D. C., by Colonel D. W. McCormack, immigration commissioner, who said Strachey replied in the negative to questions by immigration inspectors "intended to bring out whether they advocate or believe in overthrowing the government of the United States by force or violence or as to whether they are members of organizations having such aims or beliefs."

DENIES CHARGES

Strachey replied that he had "advocated" nothing during his 36 American lectures and that they were merely "informative."

Robert Morse Lovett, University of Chicago professor, posted bond for Strachey.

Clarence Darrow, noted lawyer, said he was "interested" in the case and might defend the 33-year old Briton, one-time member of Parliament. Darrow is one of the leaders of the Civil Liberties Union, which has undertaken Strachey's defense.

STUDIES DETAILS

"I am studying details of the deportation proceedings," Darrow said. "I am very much interested in the case. Of course, I haven't been to court for a long time, but you know my feelings in cases of this kind."

Strachey, perhaps mindful of the value of publicity to his new book, "The Nature of the Capitalist Crisis," was good-natured about the charges. Wearing a leather jacket and black hat, he said just before leaving for Cleveland that he "certainly" is going to fight deportation.

Acne, a Disease of the Skin, Can Be Prevented If Parents Will Treat Children When Young

THE prevention of acne is more successful than the cure. Acne is that common condition of the skin of the face and back of young folks in which the various manifestations of blackheads, pimples, and pustules with thick, oily skin, which in severe cases becomes red and inflamed. When severe, the eruptions heal with unsightly scars and a very bad complexion is the result.

We are inclined to poke fun at the boy or girl of fifteen to eighteen who stands before the mirror for long periods squeezing out blackheads and pimples, but it is no fun to them. Acne in any degree is a blemish and when very severe may influence very seriously the mental attitude of the young boy or girl.

They think everyone is looking at the blemishes on their faces. It seems much worse to them than it does to others, but they do not know that. Such a child becomes self-conscious, avoids meeting other young people and is very likely to develop a serious inferiority complex which may influence his entire future life. Parents should give more attention to the condition before it develops and try to prevent its occurrence.

CHILDREN subject to acne are those whose skin early shows signs of being thick and oily. This commences between the ages of eight and fourteen years, and this is the time to commence treatment for prevention. At this age the average child has not begun to give much attention to his looks, and this is the time to take a hand. They must advise what should be done and see that it is done.

Later, the children will be quite willing to do anything suggested, but by that time much damage to the skin may be done. Preventive treatment should begin early and be continued through all the years of adolescence.

The internal treatment is only that for any growing child. Good wholesome food, not too much candy and sweets, active healthy outdoor exercise. Use iron tonics if there is any anemia present, and strict attention must be given to elimination, as these children have a tendency toward constipation. When the skin is thick and oily, our efforts should tend to remedy this condition. In the first place, vigorous rubbing and patting of the skin will increase the circulation and squeeze out the excess oil.

Each night the face should be scrubbed carefully with fairly warm soap and water. Any good soap may be used. Castile, if you can get a good quality, or any of the ordinary unscented soaps. Then the skin should be well soaped for four or five minutes with "Lotion Alpha." In children of eight or ten years old it may be too strong and may be diluted to one-fourth the full strength. Full strength "Lotion Alpha" is a stock solution in any drug store.

IN FULL strength it is composed of Potass. Sulphurat 1 ounce; zinc sulphat 1 ounce; glycerine 1 ounce; aqua rose 4 ounces. This can be diluted by adding aqua rose as much over night and washed off in the morning, following with a thorough washing in cold water.

"Lotion Alpha" is a drying solution, and our effort is to so dry the skin that it is slightly chapped. As the skin becomes used to this strength of lotion it can be made stronger, even using it to four or five times this strength.

The soap can be used stronger, too, first changing to surgeons' soap, later tar soap, and if necessary green soap. The effort should be continued to keep the skin dry and a little chapped. The young child may not feel this is necessary and will wish to wash his face anyhow, but if he sees a few pimples, he will soon help the work along.

In a few cases, stronger drying solutions such as "beta" naphthol or "Blemisher" lotion may be necessary to keep the skin dry, but a physician's advice should be sought. If the skin does not keep dry during the day, a little of the lotion may be added. Plenty of sunshine and an occasional application of ultra-violet rays will be helpful. If this treatment is persisted in till the age of fourteen or fifteen the vast majority of these cases will be successfully prevented.

Guide to Charm UGLINESS DOES NOT EXIST WITH RIGHT EXERCISE

By JACQUELINE HUNT

THERE'S a psychological magic about being lovely, but you have to practice it, and work and have faith in yourself really to be that way. The reason why so many women are unattractive, are so half-way is that they do not care enough to believe in themselves, they do not understand what responsive, expressive faces they could have or what a lovely skin. Every woman has something in her that will make her lovely if she will only care enough to find it.

Ugliness is bad—it is depressing and makes the muscles sag and the spirit old. Nothing is more tragic than the woman who wakes up in the morning and glances in the mirror to see a face that she has not cared enough about to keep it gay and firm and youthful. No one who loves you wants to see you getting old.

When you find one of those deeper permanent lines, it's time for you to snap out of it and begin doing something. Usually the first real old age lines come around the mouth, from the corners down to the chin, or on the neck. When you first get up put some kind of rich cream or oil on your face, massage it into the skin, especially around the mouth, chin and eyes, and leave it there until it is absorbed.

Then do our exercises before an open window—they are so important if you want to keep from getting old. Bend, twist, stretch and breathe deeply. Learn to enjoy these exercises. Perhaps they will be boring and difficult at first, but make yourself do them until they become pleasant and automatic. When you have finished with them, step under your shower, as cold as you can stand it, and you will feel stimulated and your face will be more alert, and alive when you step out. Finally let the water run as cold as it will in the wash basin and with your washcloth dripping hold it against your face, neck and chest. Blackheads come from clogged pores. After your face is washed thoroughly and rinsed with cool, clear water, go over and over your nose and chin with a pad of cotton squeezed out of a solution made of one pint of boiled water and a half pound of Epsom salts.

Proper cleansing methods should cure the blackheads on your nose and chin. The treatment of your skin should follow this routine: First wash with soap and water and a rough washcloth. Blackheads come from clogged pores. After your face is washed thoroughly and rinsed with cool, clear water, go over and over your nose and chin with a pad of cotton squeezed out of a solution made of one pint of boiled water and a half pound of Epsom salts.

Miss Isobel Steele Is Going to Tell About Her Experiences in Germany as a Spy Suspect

SOME idea of what the Nazis are doing in Germany can be gleaned from Miss Isobel Steele, the American girl who was not so long ago released from Moabit Prison in Berlin, where she had been held for four months, charged with espionage. She knows something about the two German society women who were recently beheaded. She is now at work on a book which will tell her own impressions on that affair and on Germany in general. Baroness Benita von Berg, Baroness Renate von Natziem and others involved in this sensational exposure are discussed at considerable length in the book upon which Miss Steele is now engaged. Sleazy, dark, cultured in classic fashion, Miss Steele was born in Canada some twenty-three years ago. Her family moved to Salt Lake City when she was six and later to Boise, Idaho. Subsequent years found her in California, where she attended the

Double-Breasted and Cape Coats Feature Initial Showings of the Spring Season

EMPHASIZING SHOULDER WIDTHS

By IRENE VAIL

New York—The shop windows are now displaying double-breasted coats with revers in the Regency manner. They are also showing black coats with severe arrangements of galeak for as usual, the furred and the furless coat start the season week and neck.

Many spring coats are caped, the short-shoulder cape in some cases and the waist-length in others. There seems to be a united effort to focus attention on the shoulder. Coat sleeves are not the pipstem variety, not this spring. When there is no cape to hide under they make history on their own account, some flare or flounce giving them distinction.

We have already mentioned the interesting possibility of fancy linings. They are especially impressive when the coat is loose, as many coats are.

Bernard et Cie, associated with tailored clothes in the minds of most women have given impetus to the softer type of jacket by featuring them in their recent collection. The majority of suits are made with loose jackets, ranging in length from short to two-thirds. These are shown with dresses or with skirts with white blouses. Jackets can be worn with dress unrelated to them, so it provides still further opportunity to juggle costume units.

Sketched today the long jacket suit at left exemplifies the trend for slim lines with black at shoulders. It is in black taffeta with blouse and lining of red dotted net.

Tailored Norfolk suit in flannel has inverted pleats in the pelum.

Shirring achieves the effect of a double collar in the ermine on black woolen at right.

At right of the column we show the trend in blouses. Above, with back-fastening and collarless round neckline.

Below, the satin suit blouse is white, with tiny collar and generous edging of fine lace. The lace trim around the sleeve repeats the Regency suggestion of the jacket.

TWO MOODS

You and Your Child BEING CRITICAL OF BOY BEFORE OTHERS IS BAD

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

JOE came up to his mother with a lively step and sang out. "Hello, mom." For answer mother mumbled something. Maybe it was "hello," but even the two neighbors present at the time could not be sure about that. You couldn't mistake her look, however. Eyeing the boy up and down, she burst forth, "Just look at yourself!" Joe examined himself and looked away ashamed. He could not stand the gaze of those other two.

He can't stay clean for five minutes. Every morning I send him out spic and span. He is such a slovenly child. Go home and get cleaned up, Joe." Joe walked off with lowered head, studying the ground intently. How could he ever face the world again?

What sort of a reputation are you building up for your child in the minds of neighbors and friends? Contain yourself before you speak uncomplimentarily of him to anyone. Remember, you are his parent. Critical, perhaps, but in the end always forgiving.

pleasure is a mood that passes off and will be forgotten. But not if you put it into words. For then the listener is given a picture to carry in his mind always. Such unwholesome propaganda may some day hurt your child.

As for the child himself: If you tell him that he is untidy, he believes you. And the more you criticize and scold the more he will imagine himself to be "hopeless" of change. A child needs encouragement. He needs to feel self-respecting. In this sense, he is no different from you or I. When he believes in himself, he is inspired to worthy actions.

Even a child like Joe must have days when he is less slovenly. Granted it may be pure accident. But at the same time, it is an opportunity which you cannot afford to overlook. Mention the improvement, by all means. That's all he has to know: That you believe he can keep clean. If you set a higher standard in cleanliness for him to live up to.

Society Woman Entering Business Des Well to Tie Up With Someone of Experience

THERE is nothing particularly new in society women entering business. There is, however, a flurry of interest when an outstanding woman does, and for a time at least she is a drawing card for her business.

So it is with Mrs. Gloria V. Vanderbilt, who has figured prominently in the papers recently when a bitter court battle was fought for the custody of her daughter. Mrs. Vanderbilt lost her fight for the child and some very harsh things were said against her.

She has now gone into business, taking her titled sister, Lady Furness, with her, in partnership with an experienced business woman from whom Mrs. Vanderbilt has been buying her gown. The shop has attracted a great many women whose curiosity exceeded their bankrolls. But that was to be expected.

In the old days when a woman of means was forced to earn her own living, she turned to professional housekeeping rather than to trade. The boarding house, or the furnished room house, was the refuge in those days of ladies in distress. But boarding houses seem to have passed away, and furnished rooms have faded what they were since family hotels sprang into existence.

NOWADAYS women whose incomes are not adequate open a shop somewhere and try to turn their national talents into money.

Mrs. Vanderbilt might be expected to know a good deal about what women should and should not wear. It so happens that she herself has always been a well-dressed woman. The chances of her making a success of such an undertaking are vastly better than that she turned her attention to something about which she knew absolutely nothing.

"I have always practically designed my own clothes," is her explanation for having chosen a dress shop as her career. Women who have, for one reason or another, to go into trade should take their own talents into account and make an effort to cultivate them professionally.

A woman who has a good sense of her own worth and her home charmingly, without any outside assistance, has a good chance of turning her knack to the business of furnishing homes for others, or at least for buying pieces for the homes of those more affluent than she. A woman who has a flair for dress and can design her own costumes has a better chance of going into interior decoration, for instance, although in both those particular fields the essential thing is good taste.

THE woman who is a marvel to housekeeper can find a field for her talents. The woman who has any sort of specialty should stick to that, for it stands to reason that what one does well is the thing for which one is most likely to become famed.

Those who follow their natural bent professionally are usually those who are outstanding successes.

It is no new theory that the girls, as well as boys, of well-to-do parents should be trained in some specialty, but it is a theory that is more and more accepted.

When reverses come it is very comforting to know that there is something that one really knows how to do well, even if it has only to be done in the role of amateur.

It shows a good deal of good business sense for a woman with an artistic talent to tie up with one who has business experience. Business and artistic ability are not often given to one individual. Some of the most gifted women—men too, for that matter—are quite powerless to "sell themselves." But if one has any ability of any special talent there is usually some practical person to tie to. The really important thing is the cultivation of one's specialty, some natural gift such as Mrs. Vanderbilt means to do in capitalizing on good taste.

Another matter presented to the jury by District Attorney Healey is what is known as the Andreason case. Gilbert Andreason, 8 year old boy was fatally injured last year by an automobile driven by A. It is understood it is now claimed that the jury did not hear all of the evidence, and the prosecution of the case will depend on the recommendation that may now be made.

Witnesses who appeared tonight in the Andreason matter were Claude Andreason, Frank Mariani, Grant Ivory, Dorothy Schooner, Barbara Rickmer, and Braddick Peterson.

Friends Gather At Funeral Of Haw Tabor Wife

LEADVILLE, Colo., March 13—UP—The humble folk of Leadville, who knew Mrs. Elizabeth McCourt Tabor as a kindly and courageous neighbor, paid their last respects to her today at a simple funeral service.

Burial rites for "Baby Doe," second wife of H. A. W. Tabor, whose almost incredible career has often been told in picture and story, were held in the Church of the Annunciation, which her husband helped to build.

Deeply sorrowful were the people of Leadville. They refused to regard her 30 year vial at the month of the Matchless mine—the property that "Haw" Tabor told her on his death bed to "guard unto death"—as an eccentricity. Instead, they spoke today, in whispered tones of her faithfulness to the trust he reposed in her, to her courage and to her undying devotion to the one time silver prince of the west who died almost penniless.

The funeral ceremony was without the splendor that Mrs. Tabor knew when she and her husband possessed a fortune of more than $10,000,000, much of it dug from the Matchless.

The Rev. Edward L. Morgan, intimate friend and confessor for Mrs. Tabor, sung requiem mass. Neighbors sang simple hymns that Mrs. Tabor loved. There were no flowers.

Miners, Owners In Debate Over Assembly's Bill

SACRAMENTO, March 13—UP—Big mine operators and small miners argued with each other across the committee table as legislators today took up the Placerbill bill to separate the state mining division from the department of natural resources.

"This is not an attempt to create a new department, but an effort to put the mining industry into political," urged R. M. Searls, San Francisco, representing the Metal Producers Association, which he said included 85 per cent of gold production in the state.

"The department of natural resources falls to give cooperation to small operators," countered Charles L. Gilmore of the Mining Association of California, representing small operators. He added the present setup failed particularly in relation to compensation insurance. Searls hinted his group fears a gold billion tax in event too much public attention is centered on mining affairs. The hearing was continued until March 27 by the Senate mines committee.

PICKETS BESIEGE WORKERS IN HUGE SUGAR REFINERY

camp, with picketing longshoremen laying siege to the huge sugar refinery. Street fights have been reported as frequent, as carload after carload of pickets have been entering the town.

All liquor stores in the city have been closed under orders issued by the State Board of Equalization.

A group of 35 workers was escorted from the refinery late last night by 50 "Citizens League" vigilantes armed with shotguns and clubs.

Marching in military formation and completely surrounding the employees, the vigilante group spirited the workers through a lower gate of the six-story plant before a mob of pickets could interfere.

650 IN PLANT
Approximately 650 workers remained in the plant, afraid to brave the surging mob outside. Many had been in the establishment since morning.

Between 250 and 300 pickets were scattered around the plant. Their main force was deployed before the front gate of the refinery. Answering calls from pickets at the lower gate, the demonstrators rushed there when the vigilantes began escorting out workers, but made no attempt to interfere after glimpsing the guns held by the vigilantes.

HALT TRAIN CREW
Union pickets outside the plant halted a Southern Pacific train crew as they attempted to take a locomotive into the company's yards to remove a sugar shipment.

The pickets also announced that they would not permit two Sacramento river boats the Danless and Crockett to tie up at wharves of the company to unload sugar cargoes.

INJURED MAN HERE
Gus Jensen, a factory worker, was removed to a Richmond hospital for treatment of a possible skull fracture and broken nose sustained in a street melee.

A special force of State highway patrolmen was ordered to keep all highways in the area open. E. Raymond, Cato, State director of the highway patrol, said that Inspector Fred Leber had 50 men at his command in the area, but that none of them would be permitted to engage directly in the dispute. Their sole object will be to prevent molestation of motorists he said.

Sheriff John Miller announced that he would depend on the police forces already available to maintain order. Miller reported that California-Hawaiian company officials had requested troops be sent to preserve order. He said he would make no such request himself.

DENIES REPORT
William B. Tyler, vice president in charge of the plant, denied that troops had been asked by the company, but said he had suggested to Miller that "he should get the governor to help him."

Members of the Crockett Citizens League, with "C-L" initialed arm bands walked the streets and watched the highways, but had not yet become involved in direct brushes with the longshoremen.

PLANT CLOSED
The plant employing 1,500 persons, was ordered closed.

Reasons for the trouble were complicated. Jack O'Connor, representative of the Warehousemen and Cereal Workers Union, and "Dutch" Dietrich, of the Longshoremen, claimed the company had violated an agreement not to proselyte the employees before an election last week in which the International Longshoremen's Association union was defeated.

TRouble AT NOON
They said company officials had boasted, "The L. A. is all washed up with C and H."

The first trouble broke at noon yesterday when the longshoremen and warehousemen working on two ships at the Crockett dock walked off.

They congregated at the plant gate and refused to allow other workers inside.

"No more ships will be unloaded at the Crockett docks until this is settled," declared O'Connor.

NOT A STRIKE
Tyler countered that the disturbance was not a strike.

"San Francisco longshoremen have established themselves in front of the gates and by violence, threats and force have prevented employees from entering," he said.

He declared the trouble did not involve C and H employees, that the crowd of pickets consisted of workers from the boats and were working for steamship companies.

STRIKE IN FEBRUARY
He denied the new union over which the controversy had arisen was a company organization. He said it now had 1,200 members in the plant and had been recognized as the employees' collective bargaining agency.

February 22, a 22-hour strike tied up the refinery in a lockout over a campaign to organize the warehouse workers. In a compromise, an election was called and last week the warehouse employees voted 158 to 97 against the I. L. A. affiliated union.

NO OFFICIAL REQUEST
SACRAMENTO, March 13—UP—No official request has been received for troops to control a mob reported besieging the C. & H. sugar plant in Crockett, Gov. Frank Merriam said tonight.

Governor Merriam said he could take no action in the matter until Sheriff John Miller or some other Contra Costa official had requested action.

E. Raymond Cato, director of the State highway patrol announced that Inspector F. E. Leber of Richmond had been ordered to keep all highways open in the district. Leber has 50 men in the district, Cato said. The men will be used solely to guard traffic and prevent molestation of motorists. Cato stressed, explaining that they would not leave the highways or enter into the dispute at the company plant in any way.

RESOLUTION APPROVED
WASHINGTON, March 13—The Senate Finance committee today approved the House resolution to repeal the "pink slip" provision for publication of income tax figures.

JUDGE NAMED
WASHINGTON, March 13—President Roosevelt today named Clifton Mathews of Arizona to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Judicial Circuit, succeeding the late Judge Sawtelle.

Local ideas concerning the need for uniform public regulation of all shipping terminals may become embodied in Federal legislation when Fred D. Parr goes to Washington to testify before the committee which is working on a bill to bring this about.

Parr has been the principal San Francisco Bay advocate of universal regulation that would place the publicly owned terminals on the same basis of regulation as the privately owned ones, and announced at yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors that he had been invited to Washington to give his views. He will talk along the same lines before the harbor section of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco March 21.

T. Emmet Ward, chairman of the membership committee of the Chamber, reported that a meeting of his group will be held at noon today at Hotel Carquinez to plan the membership campaign. Ward said he believed a great many new members will be enrolled in the campaign, which will last about two weeks.

The question of whether new and sweeping legislation shall be passed by the Sacramento legislature for the regulation of trucks will be debated March 27 before the traffic committee, with representatives of both sides present to give their views.

The new sign directing traffic from the highway to Richmond along the new Tenth street extension was lighted for the first time last night. It was reported by E. M. Downer, director.

President E. M. Sanford reported that Congressman Albert E. Carter has informed him that Richmond is on the list of cities to be considered for new postoffice buildings, and that there is some reason to believe the building may be secured from PWA funds to be made available by the present Congress.

BODY OF MRS LAMSON GOLD WHEN FOUND
SAN JOSE, March 13—UP—The state today rapidly sketched in main points in its contention that David Lamson beat his wife to death with an iron pipe.

Testimony of Gordon R. Davis, Stanford University traffic officer and the first policeman to reach the Lamson cottage Memorial Day, 1933, when Mrs. Lamson's body was found in the bathtub of the house, was added to the prosecution's case.

Davis testified to finding the iron pipe the State contends Lamson used to beat his wife, and told of seeing apparently fresh scratches on Lamson's face. Davis also testified that he saw bloodstains on an undershirt Lamson was wearing when he first saw him.

One important addition to Davis' testimony as compared to his statements in Lamson's first trial was his declaration that Mrs. Lamson's body felt "cold" when he touched it.

No previous information has been elicited from witnesses to say whether Mrs. Lamson's body was still warm when found, or cold, bearing on the question of what time she was killed or fell to her death as maintained by the defense.

The officer was subjected to a biting cross examination by Defense Attorney Edwin McKenzie after testifying that he had been a spot of blood on a kitchen door in the house.

AAA Held Null By Decision Of Federal Court
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 13—UP—The Agricultural Adjustment Act is unconstitutional as applied to Intrastate business, Judge Ira Lloyd Letts ruled in Federal District Court today.

Judge Letts granted an injunction restraining Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and local Market Administrator O. A. Jamison from enforcing the Agriculture Adjustment Act against three Rhode Island retail milk dealers.

The petitioners, Clarence E. Collins of Johnston, Thurston Helgeson of Cranston, and Albert L. Lettman of North Smithfield charged that the act was being enforced against them illegally, in that their business was being carried on solely within the confines of Rhode Island.

PARR TO SEEK CHANGES FOR HARBOR LAWS

Local ideas concerning the need for uniform public regulation of all shipping terminals may become embodied in Federal legislation when Fred D. Parr goes to Washington to testify before the committee which is working on a bill to bring this about.

Parr has been the principal San Francisco Bay advocate of universal regulation that would place the publicly owned terminals on the same basis of regulation as the privately owned ones, and announced at yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors that he had been invited to Washington to give his views. He will talk along the same lines before the harbor section of the Commonwealth Club in San Francisco March 21.

T. Emmet Ward, chairman of the membership committee of the Chamber, reported that a meeting of his group will be held at noon today at Hotel Carquinez to plan the membership campaign. Ward said he believed a great many new members will be enrolled in the campaign, which will last about two weeks.

The question of whether new and sweeping legislation shall be passed by the Sacramento legislature for the regulation of trucks will be debated March 27 before the traffic committee, with representatives of both sides present to give their views.

The new sign directing traffic from the highway to Richmond along the new Tenth street extension was lighted for the first time last night. It was reported by E. M. Downer, director.

President E. M. Sanford reported that Congressman Albert E. Carter has informed him that Richmond is on the list of cities to be considered for new postoffice buildings, and that there is some reason to believe the building may be secured from PWA funds to be made available by the present Congress.

Gales Whip Liner

ATLANTIC GALES have battered ocean liners in the last few weeks and the tail-end of one storm even followed the Majestic, largest liner to fly the Union Jack, to her dock at Southampton, England. Here she is, tied up with every available hawser.

STANDARD OIL IS TARGET OF SAILOR STRIKE

SAN PEDRO, March 13—UP—Close mouthed, angry seamen and a limited group of oil company operators were docked tonight in an effort to hold their current marine labor strike within the confines of immediate issues—wage increases and union preference in the hiring of men on oil tanker crews.

Behind the impasse was the fast growing threat that unless one or the other group receded from its position, the strike would spread to all seagoing labor units on the Pacific coast, and possibly to Gulf ports and the Atlantic coast.

CARGO LINES HIT
Five general cargo lines faced imminent prospect of having their crews pulled off. Twenty eight oil company vessels were tied up in Pacific coast ports, and the first break towards a sympathetic movement occurred when radio operators tonight joined tanker seamen in the general walkout.

The Standard Oil company is the chief target of the present labor attack. At the conclusion of the general strike in San Francisco last summer a vote was held on union representation which union leaders charge was so manipulated that it was invalid and no agreement was reached.

IN DISPUTE
Five other oil companies—Associated, Rightfield, Union, General Petroleum and Texas—were drawn into the dispute. All seamen on tankers operated by these companies have been pulled off boats as fast as they have docked.

Meanwhile, the Isthmian freighter Steel Trader and the Shepard Lines Woodrush were tied up today in Seattle. Three other freighters are frozen in port because longshoremen have refused to handle their cargo.

UNION DEBATES
The United Fruit freighter Chiriqui has been anchored off Los Angeles harbor for 24 hours while the sailors' union debated desirability of calling crews off cargo boats. If they are pulled off, the United Fruit, Isthmian, Shepard Calamari and Mystic lines will be involved.

The United Press learned, the Masters, Mates and Pilots Association and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association have served notice their members will not be shipped on any vessels on which union men are replaced with strikebreakers or non union employees.

This hits at the center of the controversy which precipitated the San Francisco general strike—preference of union employees, and replacements of union men unless they are proved incompetent.

FUGITIVE ARRESTED
NORFOLK, Va., March 13—Norfolk police today arrested Marcell James Patrick, 41 year old Californian, as a fugitive from justice from San Diego, Calif., where they said he is wanted on a charge of holding up a branch of the Bank of America and robbing it of $4,000 on February 23.

NEVER TOO OLD
DANBURY, Conn., March 13—UP—Miss Marianna Montell, 74, has petitioned the court to award her $25,000 damages against Bruno Tomasko, 84, who, she claimed, jilted her last year for another woman.

Meantime action in both the Assembly and Senate was devoted mainly to clearing the files of non-controversial bills.

DELAY ACTION
In the upper House action on reconsideration of a resolution giving legislative endorsement to the entire Townsend old age pension plan was delayed. It was anticipated that Administration forces would continue to force a delay while they campaigned to obtain enough votes to assure approval of the resolution which was voted down yesterday, 21 to 17.
